Challenge

To ensure that the roofs of the cottages in this luxury development blended in with the beautiful rural surroundings and complemented the elegant central manor house.

Solution

It was critical that the right roof tile was selected to add richness and quality to these luxury homes. Dreadnought Collingwood blend sandfaced roof tiles were selected as the architects, Gaunt Francis, shared Dreadnought's belief in the enhanced beauty imparted by the natural burnt colours of clay which is produced entirely by delicate control of the traditional burning process. This means that the colour is inherent within the tile and will become tomorrow's heritage.

Result

Audley Retirement have won a number of conservation awards for their buildings and are renowned for their high quality developments. Audley Ingleswood won a Gold in the "What House?" Awards for Best Retirement Village.
